

January 25, 2019

As we find ourselves in the middle of winter, I look out my window at home and see a yard with trees, shrubs and plants reflecting the bleakness of this season. Some might find this a bit depressing, however I know with certainty and great anticipation that in a few months the shrubs and evergreens will sprout new leaves and the color will return to the wonderful perennial plants. The transformation is thanks to Alan Moy's design and the Sequoia Land Design crew who worked so hard to remove old and damaged plantings and replace them with beautiful new flora that will withstand the destructive nature of the "fauna" (the deer) that reside in my yard!

Alan spent a lot of time talking with me about the project and traveling out to my home in Hunterdon County before I made the decision to move forward with the job. Once that occurred, we set a date and Alan and his team arrived early on the designated day. I was just there to greet them however with work obligations, I left soon after they arrived. When I returned that evening it was too dark to see the final result. At the first light the next morning I walked outside and was thrilled to see the wonderful transformation. Thank you, Alan for helping to make my yard my little paradise!

Sincerely
